

The Value of a Life Insurance Review

Just as it is imprudent to hold an investment without reviewing it periodically, the same is true for life insurance.

- How many years has it been since you looked at this part of your financial plan?
- Did you put your policy in a drawer and forget the details?
- When will your policy end?
- What will your future premiums be?
- Did you remember to change your beneficiary after your last child?
- Did you buy the right coverage for your goals?
- Have your goals changed?

These are all questions that can be answered during a life insurance review.

Benefits of a Review

- Confidence knowing your coverage is current and will accomplish its intended purpose
- Early warning of potential concerns regarding the future viability of your coverage
- Confirmation of having the proper beneficiary arrangement
- Identify adjustments to keep your program on track with current goals
- Compare your policy to current options, benefits and pricing
